Late News Brevities

The Boston Post is authorized to state that General Banks is not a candidate for the Speakership but will with the rest of the Massachusetts delegation, support Mr Boutwell for that place

Mr S Augustus Mitchell the author of the well known series of geographical works that bear his name has recently died in Philadelphia where he had resided during more than half a century

Senator Morton has received a dispatch from Europe stating that the effect of his speech in favor of the resumption of specie payment was already visible in increasing confidence in American securities

The Little Rock Gazette advertises that an Arkansas novel written by a distinguished citizen of the State in which the principal character is J Wilkes Booth will be issued from the press after the first of January

A Washington correspondent of the Boston Post says the administration of President Johnson has already closed its books so far as appointments to office which require confirmation by the Senate, are concerned

Chicago has been swindled out of $2,000,000 worth of real estate, within its limits, by means of forged deeds and fraudulent tax titles. Young Robert Lincoln suffers by the discovery, as he purchased in good faith of the speculators several lots of land which belonged to the city

A Minnesota postmaster, who wished to retain his office, on being asked by Postmaster General Randall whether he had not opposed Mr Johnson's policy " replied " No sir ee, and I want you to understand that I can change my politics as fast as you, and when I can t keep up I'll resign "

A gentleman of Bloomington, Ill recently took his three children in a wagon eight miles to the railroad depot, and as it was bitter cold they were placed in the bottom of the wagon amid the straw, and wrapped in a Buffalo robe On arriving at their destination, the children, on being uncovered, were found frozen to death

The proposition submitted to the Senate providing for the retirement of any Judge of the Supreme Court who has attained to the age of 70, on full pay is said to meet with the approval of a majority of that court. Should the bill become a law Justices Nelson and Grier would probably retire and as the law stands no vacancies would exist, the number of Justices being limited to six Justice Grier is 74 years of age, and seems to be sleeping during most of the session of the court Justice Nelson is past 76

Gen. William A Bowles, of New Albany, Indiana and a leader of the Sons of Liberty, was divorced from his wife a few days since, to whom $25 000 alimony was decreed Bowles, with two other conspirators, was once condemned to death for giving aid and comfort to the rebels, but is now serving out the commuted sentence of life imprisonment in the Columbus (Ohio) penitentiary His wife expended $2 000 every cent of her patrimony, in securing the commutation and now obtains a divorce on the ground of adultery.

A Times special says the indications are that the present session of Congress will be remarkable for its policy of economy in the appropriation and expenditure of public moneys It is more than probable that a bill will be introduced in the House early in January providing for the reduction of the pay and compensation of officers high in rank of the regular army Under the present system of pay, commutation and expenses, Major Generals receive something like $15 000 per annum

It is said, by the New York Sun, that the Erie Railway Company contemplate a tunnel under the Hudson river, to accommodate the business of their road and one or two other roads now terminating at Jersey City The plans and specifications for the work have been in the Company's office for several months The eastern terminus of the tunnel will be on Eighth avenue near Twenty third street, and the purchase of Pike's Opera House and adjacent property was partially in view of the use of the land for such purpose The plans contemplate a large depot under ground, and when the work is completed, the passenger trains will be made up and start from this depot. The tunnel is estimated to cost not more than three millions of dollars, and it can be completed in two years

THE WOMAN QUESTION —Much merriment has been caused by Brick Pomeroy's facetious letter to Miss Susan B Anthony, of the Revolution, upon the Women question. Brick speaks the words of truth and reason when he says

"I would rather see a neat, tidy woman in calico, with a good honest face on her an evidence of a good kind womanly heart within her than to see sixteen daughters of bankrupt merchants parading Broadway as if doubled up by a six pound shot in the stomach, as they labor along under the excruciating delights of the Italian wriggle or the Grecian bend Tell them, Susan that it is all foolishness for a woman to spend on her back in one month more than her husband can earn in a year I know many a poor fellow who has gone to the poor house, to the gambling house, or to that red hot land, from whence it is hard returning, according to the Scriptural theory for the reason that he has had a most extravagant wife whose sole aim seemed to be to squander all he earned, and to appear on the streets of New York or other cities or villages, as the case may be, every day or at least every week, with a new dress "

And to conclude, he bids her to persuade women

Be less extravagant and take care of the money earned, and spend it for books pictures newspapers, chairs, sofas, rugs, curtains, and all sorts of pretty things to make home attractive instead of long trails, jewelry, gew gaws, steel corsets patent calves, gum elastic suspenders, cork screw ringlets horse tail frizzles spiral lounges for the head twenty seven dollar hats sixteen dollar gaiters low necked frocks mammarial balm three story bustles and all those fixings which sprung from the fashion shops of the country

General Sheridan's plan of conducting the Indian war meets with a hearty approval of the Republican press throughout the country The Detroit Post says

General Sheridan proposes to keep the Indians moving all winter by attacking and destroying their camps and villages and hunting them down remorselessly at a season when frost and snow cover and destroy forage so that their ponies will be weak and when there is no game to be had for food and when the warriors themselves are least able to travel being thinly clad For this purpose he has accumulated large numbers of strong horses with plenty of grain and forage stored at convenient fortified points and extra clothing for his men purposely arranged for a winter campaign This is military common sense and will probably result in a thorough and most terrible chastisement of savages and the conquest of a peace that may be depended upon for years

The man who invented the ink with which greenbacks are printed made an immense fortune as the chemicals of which it is made can neither be photographed nor turned black Toledo Far.

It may not be generally known that Prof A. B. Eaton is the "man" referred to He discovered the combination of chemicals with which the green used in printing greenbacks is produced and having a patent thereon received a return on each pound of color used During the heavy issue of greenbacks it was quite comfortable

A GOOD INVESTMENT —Post Master General Randall in his late report says

Every dollar put up by the government in subsidies to facilitate commerce in liberal appropriations to open lines of travel and develop material resources in a great nation like this is money put out at exorbitant usury and will bring returns in development of material wealth and in making the nation great and rich and strong in everything of value and interest to a great people "

News Paragraphs

Great distress exists among the canal drivers and porters persons temporarily stopping at Buffalo N Y The police now daily commit large numbers of them to the work house as vagrants at their own solicitation

Senator Morton of Indiana has received nearly a thousand letters from different parts of the country criticising his financial projects, the majority of them approving his bill now pending before the Finance Committee in Congress

The other evening at the Roberts reception General Grant was talking with Thomas W Knox about his voyage around the world I envy you the journey said Grant and seeing a number of hungry politicians approaching him with an office in each eye he added I think I'd like to start now

The recently exposed case of the smuggling of silks and velvets into New York turns out to be a fraud of gigantic proportions—the amount out of which the Government has been swindled by a single firm exceeding $250 000—and it is thought others will be detected as the investigations are still going on So far only foreigners engaged in the importing business seem to be implicated—though, of course, they must have accomplices in the custom house.

The actual debt of the State of Pennsylvania, at the end of the fiscal year, November 30th, 1868 was thirty three millions two hundred and eighty six thousand nine hundred and forty-six dollars and thirteen cents—a reduction of some ten millions during the Republican administrations of Governors Curtin and Geary, besides paying five millions more for war expenses A continuance of Republican rule for a few years longer will result in the total extinguishment of the State debt

Governor Evans, of Colorado, is in Washington and says the large number of horses found by General Custer in the Indian camp at the recent battle is an evidence that the guilty and not the innocent Indians were attacked, and that the hostile bands of the Cheyennes, Arrapahoes, Kiowas, Camanches and Apaches have run off in that direction thousands of horses and mules taken from the frontier settlers of Colorado and Kansas during the last four years Gov Evans is confident that General Sheridan will have propositions for peace from these Indians shortly.

H W Grinnell, late a volunteer lieutenant in our Navy received appointment of Admiral in the Mekodo's (Japanese) Navy When the civil war in Japan broke out, a number of English and French officers were in the service of the Tycoon They were then out of their places, and hearing of the Grinnell appointment formally protested and demanded its revocation It would not do for an American though now a "Jap," to hold the place The result of the protest has been that Grinnell has been ordered to stop all work and do nothing more until the question is decided Grinnell was wise enough to have inserted in his contract that he should receive $20,000 (Mexican) if his appointment was revoked and that amount was deposited to his credit. So he is something to windward whichever way matters may turn His pay was $15 000 per year, payable monthly, and he has received some considerable advances

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Post states that the Government has ascertained that the pretended disclosures of vast sums being due the late Confederacy by French and English firms are all humbug The Confederacy had drawn to its last dollar in money, and about all that could be found to which the Government of the United States could lay claim, was property which had been shipped, or, being shipped, had not been delivered prior to the surrender of the Confederate armies, and was ordered back to the port for shipment. Some of the property has since been discovered by disputes arising among the parties concerned in the sale and shipment In the suits of the United States vs Trenholm & Co, it was agreed that judgment should be confessed for a reasonable amount by the defendants, but this they have failed to do up to the present time, and the Government will, on the first of January next, proceed to take judgment in Charleston, if not in England, for $500,000.

There is some stir in Congress relative to the abuse of the franking privilege. Mr Randall's startling report, showing that the Postal service, instead of being self-sustaining as it used to be, has run behind this last year to the tune of $6,000,000, has caused some investigations into the reasons of this great deficit. One great leak has been found in the abuse of the franking privilege. The total cost to the country of carrying free matter during the last year was one million dollars! One million dollars taken from the pockets of the taxpayers to carry Congressional trash and a vast amount of trash not Congressional besides! For some Congressmen are said to send their linen home to wash under their franks, and Mr Brooks of New York, has been proved to have used his Congressional frank to cover the business communications of his newspaper, the New York Express A great many Congressmen have their signatures stereotyped, and printed on blank envelopes by the pack. Scarcely a Congressman at Washington but must plead guilty to his own conscience to more or less abuse of the franking privilege

PRESIDENT LINCOLN—THE CAPTURE OF MASON AND SLIDELL —An incident in the life of President Lincoln, is worthy to be recorded, as showing his high sense of honor and justice On the day that intelligence reached Washington of the taking of Mason and Slidell from the English Trent the writer called at the White House to introduce two English friends, who had been with him on a short trip through the Western and Southwestern States, and who were desirous of an introduction to the Chief Magistrate of the nation before their return, by way of Washington to New York whence they designed to ship for England It was on a Saturday about 3 30 P. M., when, after waiting for a short time in consequence of the President being engaged we succeeded in obtaining an interview Upon my apologizing for trespassing after the usual hour for reception he replied Not at all, my good Sir I am very happy to see you and your friends " accompanied by his usual warm grasp of the hand

After a few observations in reference to the Western country hoping my friends had derived much gratification from their tour, &c , the President said "I presume, gentlemen, you have heard of our taking Mason and Slidell from the English steamer Trent (the intelligence of which had reached him only a few hours before) Your friends on the other side of the water will not like this " After a pause, "Well, I suppose we shall have to give them up adding with evident glee, but in the meantime we will take good care of them " True, with a high sense of honor and international law, he determined his course of conduct the moment the occurrence took place, and when we consider the outcry of the press generally as to what was to be done in the premises accompanied by such exclamations as "Never give them up"—never his action in this matter reflects another instance of his absolute honesty of purpose and high sense of honor Commercial Advertiser

FENIANISM. The Irish Republic, in its issue of December 5th lays the following down as its principles

The principles which we intend to advocate henceforward in the Irish Republic and to which we invite the support of all liberty loving men are as follows First The preservation and glory of the American Republic above all other questions Second The necessity of a national spirit which shall not sink the general welfare of the Republic in State Rights The utter extinction of State Rights in its old Secession interpretation Third Intelligent suffrage no distinction of race or sex founding in this universal suffrage Fourth Protection to manufactures at home and to citizens abroad Fifth A national public school system No division of the school fund The children of the people to meet on an equality in the public schools Sixth The necessity of purity and patriotism in politics Seventh The unity of all peoples against the combined tyrannies of the earth The freedom of one nation helps all the enslavement of one people binds all

This list is to be continued whenever anything new and good ... We are in for progress We do not believe in gilding old systems to hide their rottenness Rather let us have new ideas and new systems made out of the live oak of the nineteenth century and in sympathy with the time

THE CHIVALROUS SOUTHRON —The chivalrous southron is great in his own eyes not only because he is what he is, but because he lives where he lives In these modern times there is no other civilized creature so local, and if I may be offensive, so provincial in sentiments, opinions prejudices, and vanities, as he The Turks are hardly more incapable of conceiving that people born afar off may be as good as themselves At least a part of the contempt of the Southerners for Yankees arises from the fact that the latter drew their first breath several hundred miles from the land of cotton Imagine the scorn with which they would regard an adventurer from the Milky Way! A friend of mine asserts that, if the South Carolinians should once become satisfied that the New Jerusalem is outside of their State they would not want to go to it Let us charitably hope that this is an exaggeration

Not in the least he laughed " When we speak of the southern gentleman we mean the product of our city and of the region immediately around it All else is more or less spurious a base imitation — J W DeForest in Harper's Magazine

The Daily Oregonian

[illegible] DAY M[illegible]

Laborers and Employers

[illegible] rses in [illegible] Asa [illegible] a remark [illegible] two on the [illegible]

It seems that some laborers [illegible] have thought that [illegible] infiltration on the part [illegible] manufacturing [illegible] Chinese [illegible] consists [illegible] the alleged [illegible] what [illegible] We suppose that [illegible] the Chinese [illegible] terms that more profit can be [illegible] their labor. This [illegible] is what is meant by the mercenary motives [illegible] attributed to the company. Now these mercenary motives are the same which actuate all mankind. The company buys such labor as it can buy cheapest [illegible] authors of these resolutions buy their boots and coffee where they can get those articles at the lowest prices. The right is the same in both cases. And in the latter case mercenary motives are as apparent as in the former.

The participants in this meeting seem to forget that employers of labor have just as much right to refuse to pay the wages asked as employes have [illegible] demand them. The owner of labor has a right to get all he can for it; laborers have an unlimitable right to combine to secure the best wages they can. But the owner of capital, who is usually the employer of labor, has an equal right to get labor at as low rates as he can, and capitalists have as much right as laborers to combine to promote their interests. Suppose the authors of these resolutions were demanding wages which the manufacturing company could not afford to pay, and such things often occur, what would the resolvers think if the company should denounce their conduct as "mercenary, unprincipled and against the peace and welfare of the community?" Yet the company would have the same right to this that this meeting has for the course it has taken.

It would be well if everybody would look at these things in a practical way. No theory can regulate wages. No combination of laborers can permanently effect anything in the way of compelling employers to accede to their demands. The price of labor is regulated by the same law which regulates all prices—the law of demand and supply. It is often the fashion to regard the capitalist as the enemy of the laborer. Nothing is more erroneous. It is only through the capitalist that the laborer gets anything to do. Without capital there could be no wages at all. And it is the privilege of the capitalist as well as of the laborer to get the best terms he can. We have no hesitation in predicting that the "White Laborers' Association" of Oregon City will accomplish nothing at all for the benefit of its projectors. The manufacturing company will control its own business and employ labor just as it buys wool—on the best terms it can.

Of course the "White Laborers Association" is fired with great animosity against the Chinese. It thinks the Chinese are greatly in the way of the white man. Now we submit that in this country where there is so much to do and where so many avenues of employment are open, the average white man and woman can find quite as good employment in other pursuits as in woolen factories. The Chinaman is not in the way of any white man or woman who possesses energy, intellect, tact and perseverance. It does not become any white persons who in possession of their physical and mental powers, to complain that the Chinese are competing with them and hindering their advancement. In this country energetic workers can always find enough to do. Any man or woman who wants to work can find better employment than whining about being crowded out by an inferior race like the Chinese.

Finally, from what we hear in an extra-official way about this meeting, we are satisfied that it is a movement engineered by the local politicians of the Democratic party. The speeches were distinguished by the ignorant assertion and bitter denunciation which characterize the current twaddle of the day about a "white man's government." Our Senators and the "Radical party" came in for their full share of abuse. The officers of the meeting are Democrats "after the most straitest sect" of that party and took this opportunity to make a little diversion for political effect. It is one of the singular phenomena of the century that the party that has always contended for slavery, which furnishes the capitalist with labor without requiring him to pay anything for it at all, should be so furiously hostile against the colored laborer the moment wages are paid him.

PRECEDENTS.—The Unionist makes a great parade of precedents to show that legislative bodies, when convened in extra session, have no power to consider any measures except those which they are specially assembled to act upon. On examination we find these "precedents" to consist merely of resolutions on the part of Congress when assembled in extra session on two or three occasions not to enter into general legislation. The Unionist in its simplicity or stupidity seems not to perceive that these precedents are directly against the point it is trying to make. But there is an argument to settle this matter so far as it concerns us at present from which there is no appeal. In our constitutional convention an effort was made to insert in the Constitution a clause providing that the Legislature when convened in extra session by the Governor should have power to consider only such measures as he might call them together to act upon, and the proposition was distinctly rejected. The Unionist's argument that the Ku Klux majority of the present Legislature would have no power [illegible] is perfectly absurd. Perhaps that paper will now see where the [illegible] this matter lies.

RAINFALL IN CALIFORNIA.—The Sacramento Union says that the average rainfall at that city during the months of November and December for many years has been 7 [illegible] inches. But the rainfall during the same months of the present winter has been only 1 30 inches, considerably less than half the average. The annual average is 2[illegible] 247 inches but it cannot now be expected that anything like that amount [illegible] What effect this almost certain deficit will have upon the crops [illegible] says the Union, [illegible] but as a legitimate [illegible] hardly expect an average harvest of cereals.

Gen Sherman on State Rights

Gen. Sherman has [illegible] with [illegible] rate they once talked seriously of nominating him for President. But this was only a spasm [illegible] similar to that which happened when they talked of making Chase their candidate. Sherman delivered the [illegible] at Chicago [illegible] of that performance. Perhaps this was [illegible] Sherman [illegible] Democrats [illegible]

[illegible] you [illegible] loss [illegible] people [illegible] hearts [illegible] You were reared to a better [illegible] taught to revere the Constitution of [illegible] whole country and to love the wise and genial [illegible] under which are assured the largest measure of security and happiness consistent with the safety of the whole nation.

[illegible] man who fought for his country does not hesitate to speak of it as a [illegible] though [illegible] always seems to excite Democratic [illegible] Sherman was in the South when the rebel leaders were preparing for the revolt, and here is what he said in his Chicago oration of how the rebellion began:

> You may search history in vain for a more flagrant violation of faith than that which resulted [in] our civil war. Never were people more ruthlessly, more unwillingly dragged into a long and bloody conflict; never was a nation so utterly unprepared for the attempt. To prepare for the danger was called cowardice, and the whole civilized world was taught to believe that the broad stripes [illegible] flag [illegible] the stars sunk forever from view, and that our fair fabric of Union was broken up beyond recall. Our attempts to reason were laughed at, our laws were derided, public property was seized, and war begun. Men wasted their eloquence in vain attempts to avert the storm; statesmen exhausted the last peaceful remedy, and not until this time was the last arbiter resorted to.

There is a remarkable difference between the bold and manly words of Sherman and the sophistical excuses for the rebellion which continually emanate from Democratic sources. This is the cause of the Herald's animosity. But Sherman was not alone in uttering these opinions. General Craft, who spoke in the name of the Army of the Cumberland in referring to the causes of the war, said:

> It was not any single cause which brought about the war, but a combination of many. The most noteworthy of these causes was the persistent effort made by the South so to shape federal legislation as to foster and extend the institution of African slavery and to establish a certain political dogma known as the doctrine of "State Rights." This rebellion, stripped of all poetical and other surroundings, was an effort on the part of the eleven States of the Union by force of arms to throw off the Federal Government and establish a confederation which should perpetuate the barbarisms of African slavery, and perpetuate the [illegible] State rights.

These extracts give us the secret of Democratic opposition to such assemblages as that at Chicago. The party which claims as its principles the very doctrines that inspired the rebellion, don't like to have these things touched upon.

Fernando Wood on Thaddeus Stevens

We do not admire Fernando Wood but he is entitled to the credit of having made the best speech in Congress in eulogy of Thaddeus Stevens. His description of the character of the old man was wonderfully faithful and keen. Being himself the opposite of Stevens in every respect save ability he seems to have a clear appreciation of the old man's distinctive traits. The following is an admirable analysis of what Stevens was and of what Wood is not:

> He was truthful to his instincts, to his nature, and his public career displayed his increasing activity of an ever present to day. Mr Stevens was a man of rare natural mental power which, together with much self reliance, and entire independence of character, rendered him at once the formidable and successful leader. He relied upon these qualities more than upon the common resources of inferior men, who yield to the errors and prejudices of the times rather than suffer defeat. Himself a man of conviction but not of policy, despised those who sacrificed the former to the latter. A bold thinker, and yet a bolder actor, he had no patience with those who have no higher idea of the noble profession of politics than to obtain success by every means and at every hazard. He was a candid man; whatever mistakes of judgment the world may attribute to him, they were not assumed for a purpose. Caring little for popular favor, he pursued the even tenor of his way, enforcing the doctrines he advocated with an earnestness no man could have done who did not himself earnestly and honestly believe them to be right. He utterly contemned deception. Those of us who served with him on committees and who were brought into frequent personal intercourse with him, will bear testimony to the frankness and manliness of his bearing.

THE ENGLISH MARKET.—The New York Times, in a carefully considered article on the supply of food in England, concludes that that country will be compelled before her harvest of 1869 to import an unusual quantity to supply deficiencies. The chief markets relied upon by Great Britain for supplies of grain are Russia, Prussia, the Danubian Principalities, Egypt, Turkey, the Dutch and German States, Hungary, Chili, Canada and the United States. The receipts of wheat for the ten months of 1868 ending on the 31st of October, as stated by the English Board of Trade, show the following reductions as compared with those of 1867. From Russia, of 3,250,000 cwt., Prussia, 1,480,000 cwt., Chili, 530,000; while they have increased from Egypt 2,150,000 cwt., from the Danubian Principalities, 1,694,2[illegible]0, cwt., and from the United States 2,730,000 cwt. France which supplied flour for the first ten months of 1866 to the extent of 3,246,638 cwt., and in 1867, 1,103,032 cwt., sent to England in 1868, to the 31st of October, only 431,414 cwt. The Times concludes that before the next harvest our whole stock of food will be required by those States of Europe which were suffering from the drought of last summer.

The OREGONIAN forgets that in State matters it has been placed entirely on the defensive.—Herald.

It is the rash and violent partisan majority of the Legislature who have been placed on the defensive. They have degraded Oregon in the sight of the whole nation. They have been kicked for their insolence in the presence of the whole people. They have been placed on the defensive before the people of Oregon for having wasted the whole session and several days more than the usual session in violent tirades against the Constitution and Congress of the United States, neglecting their duties as legislators and refusing to provide means for the support of the State government. They are on the defensive for these things which however admit of no defense, as they will discover before the account is settled with them.

WHERE THE BURTHEN RESTS.—When first imposed the income tax embraced 460,000 persons. When the exemption was extended to $1,000 the number was reduced to 240,000. These rich men, for any man with economical habits is rich, whose clear income exceeds $1,000, contribute $[illegible],000,000 a year to the support of the Government. If the Democratic theory of "equal taxation" upon the money value of everything, should obtain the burthens of the rich will be materially lessened, and those of the poor materially increased.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 14.—About 2 o'clock this A M Harvy Logan, a well known stock broker, and Augustine Guerrero, brother in law of Hon Jas Dennison, quarreled in Oscar Lewis' saloon. Blows soon ensued, when Logan drew a knife. Guerrero immediately drew a Sharps four shooter and fired three shots at Logan, one shot struck him in the right breast and the other in the abdomen. The surgeon in attendance pronounced the wounds mortal, still there is a chance for him.

At about 12 o'clock last night, when the Stockton boat was fifteen miles below Benecia, in San Pablo bay, a German jumped overboard and was drowned. From passengers on the boat, we learn that the man had been gambling in Stockton and was almost penniless.

There was an immense rush at the door of the new theater on Bush street this A M, caused by a desire to secure seats for the opening night. As early as 2 o'clock men went to the place, carrying provisions there and remained till the box office opened. At 9 A M every available seat in the theater was sold.

The annual meeting of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company was held yesterday. Lloyd Tevis, Wm E Barrows, D O Mills, Henry F Robinson, Lewis Cunningham, Edgar Mills and Thomas Bell were elected Trustees. Lloyd Tevis was elected President, D O Mills Vice President, Edgar Mills Treasurer, and F H Miner Secretary. It will be observed that there is a complete new Board of Directors and officers, the road having changed hands by purchase of all outstanding interests. The road is already completed fifteen miles south of San Jose and will be in running order to Gilroy within sixty days. From Gilroy the route of the road is not determined, but in a few days the engineer in chief will start out and make a survey of the several passes through the Coast Range, southward and eastward from Gilroy, with the object of getting at the most accessible point into the Tulare valley. We have good authority for saying that in six months time a larger force will be put on the road. It is well known that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have a contract for the purchase of the San Francisco and San Jose railroad, which will give the consolidated company the control of the continuous line from this city.

A dispatch received last evening from Elko, the present terminus of the C P R R, stating that a large party of roughs and desperadoes from Green River and other points in Utah, Colorado, Idaho and Montana, had made a raid on Hamilton, Silver Springs and Treasurer City, in the White Pine district, taking possession of the stores, saloons and most valuable mines, and inaugurating a reign of terror. No bloodshed had occurred but the citizens were greatly alarmed. To a late hour no dispatches confirmatory of the rumor have been received by the press.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

JACKSONVILLE, Jan 1[illegible].—James Holland, a well known citizen [illegible] last night [illegible] No new cases reported for three days, and it is thought the epidemic is abating.

Whittier and Lloyd Garrison began in the Newburyport Herald nearly fifty years ago.

AN INFINITE OBLIGATION.—The New York Herald is a generous journal, and Gen. Grant [illegible] consider himself under infinite obligations [illegible] its advice. In an article instructing him as to the course he ought to pursue, it tells why the Democratic party submitted to the result of the late election instead of rebelling as it did eight years ago. It says:

For the sake of peace the Democratic party [illegible] of majorities in this country, did not resist the purchased verdict. They preferred [illegible] to insist ad [illegible] on the strict letter of their most undoubted rights. We have no doubt General Grant will profoundly appreciate this remarkable exhibition of magnanimity and show his gratitude by appointing several Democrats, including the editor of the Herald [illegible] Horatio Seymour is entitled to be made Secretary of State for not heading another rebellion and the least that [illegible] or Blair is to make him [illegible]

THE FRANKING ABUSE.—The only proper way to [illegible] the abuses of the franking privilege is to abolish it altogether. We copy it in the first place from England, where it has long been done away with, though it was never carried to the same absurd extent there as here. The New York Times says:

Nothing is more common than for members to issue franked envelopes in packages for use in business, in circulating prospectuses, or other private documents, having not the remotest connection with public affairs, for which alone members are authorized by law [illegible] franks at all. It is even said that some [illegible] sell their franks to business men.

SHAMEFUL.—At the anniversary banquet at Cincinnati Gen. Sherman spoke with pride of the achievements of our national soldiers in quelling the rebellion. Our neighbor of the Commercial says that in doing this, Sherman glorified in his own shame. That, certainly, is the Democratic way of putting it. It was shameful indeed in Democratic estimation for Sherman to drive his sword through the vitals of the rebellion. That's what Democrats told us at the time.

LIBERAL PROGRESS.—The Liberal gains on the whole elections for the New British Parliament are twenty three seats. The representation of England remains exactly as it was. Non-Conformist Wales, Presbyterian Scotland and Roman Catholic Ireland have returned the whole of the increased Liberal majority.

RAILROAD ITEM.—While some men are trucks to bear the burdens of the earth, or furnace-grates to bear the dross [illegible] to be consumed in obscurity, other are driving wheels which give life and motion to all with whom they are connected. Ish [illegible] Fishel, the leading Dry Goods [illegible] of Portland, are the driving wheels of trade in that city. They conceived and carried out a [illegible] work nobler than the Pyramids, grander than the gardens of Nineveh or the walls of Babylon; for their work is not a monument for the dead, neither the gratification of a luxuriant fancy, but it is a new pathway for purchasers, a link to bind the chain of families and the hearts of men.

MARRIED.

At the residence of Mr John Stephens, Yamhill Co, Jan 6th, by John Carey, J P, Mr W T Larkens to Miss Phebe Hampton, both of Yamhill Co.

May truth, love and friendship, resplendent in beauty,
Mark clearly and plainly the pathway of duty;
May faith, hope and patience be constantly given,
And each in resignation point upward to Heaven.

DIED:

SAIL UNDER FALSE COLORS!!

THE BEST EVIDENCE OF THE VALUE OF AN article may be found in the fact of its having numerous imitators. Every fine poem has its parodies, every meritorious literary work is subject to plagiarisms, every successful play has been burlesqued, every [illegible] man has his detractors, every genuine dollar has been counterfeited, and every valuable medicinal preparation has its vile imitators. The proprietors of have encountered the usual experience in this [illegible] Such has been the success of this sterling preparation that all inferior articles of the kind have virtually been driven from the market. The concoctors of these beverages, finding that this new Tonic has exactly met the public want, and that no further demand exists for inferior preparations, have resorted to the dishonest expedient of imitating either the name or the style of label, both of which have been duly secured by the laws of the State to the proprietors of the I X L Bitters.

In justice to ourselves, as well as to the public who may be deceived by these nefarious practices, we hereby notify all parties guilty of infringement on our rights as well as those who have been buying up our old bottles in order to palm off their own nostrums as the genuine article, that they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

For the further protection of consumers, we would state that we never sell our Bitters in bulk, but always by the case. Look for our Trade Mark on every bottle, and in ordering the article otherwise than direct from us, be sure to order Dr. Henley's Wild Grape Root I X L Bitters, and don't allow yourself to be imposed upon with an inferior article.

If [illegible] corder and the justices of the peace will go in [illegible] the roughs they will do more to keep [illegible] of mischief than all the other reformatory [illegible] can be brought to bear. In this [illegible] that the chain gang for which the C[illegible] provided should be organized without any [illegible] Very few of the roughs are fond of labor, and if th[illegible] to know that their [illegible] are sure to be [illegible] by a compulsory requisition to serve the [illegible] on the streets they will be [illegible] more [illegible] they conduct themselves. If one of them [illegible] single day he should be required to work that day [illegible] sure as fate. Severity will be found the best re[illegible] apply to a large majority of the [illegible] who [illegible] often before the Recorder and that [illegible] he will be amply supported by [illegible] apply the law with something of rigor.

PRESENTATION TO MR. F. M. BATES.—Last eve[illegible] the conclusion of the play of Richelieu, Mr. Bat[illegible] called before the curtain by a storm of [illegible] continued for some time after he [illegible] acknowledged the compliment in a few well [illegible] and was about to retire when he was met by Mr. Reed, who addressed him [illegible] that he had b[illegible] deputed by many of his (Mr. B's) [illegible] appreciation of him as an actor and a [illegible] the conclusion of a brief but [illegible] and [illegible] ary speech Mr Reed presented Mr. Bates a b[illegible] and costly silver cup, [illegible] whose delight at the scene was equalled only by [illegible] of the recipient [illegible] was taken [illegible] denors, and even [illegible] of the [illegible] able from emotion to say more than a few w[illegible] thanks, when both gentlemen retired [illegible] amid the prolonged applause of the [illegible] is an elegant pattern of rich [illegible] On one side it bears the inscription "[illegible] M. Bates by the citizens of [illegible] Jan. 14th [illegible]" On the reverse side is this [illegible] "[illegible] Memoriam." It is a beautiful [illegible] and we h[illegible] doubt that it will be [illegible] prized by the [illegible] in after years, will be [illegible] by it that he had admirers and warm, true friends in the city of P[illegible] May the [illegible] be as bright as the beautiful gift.

ORO FINO THEATER.—There was [illegible] ing at Oro Fino T[illegible] to [illegible] the play of [illegible] on the [illegible] of Mr Bates' [illegible] The [illegible] room was literally packed full, from [illegible] front of the stage to the [illegible] back end of the [illegible] hall, and the [illegible] on either side were filled with [illegible] while many, unable to find [illegible] during the whole performance. The [illegible] compliment as no actor ever [illegible] land. Of the performance we can only say that [illegible] rendered even better than [illegible] anticipated. Mr Bates took the [illegible] for the first time, but he played it with [illegible] and fidelity to the [illegible] table vindictive, crafty [illegible] [illegible] It is a character of many and [illegible] tions following so rapidly upon one [illegible] ering the tragic and the [illegible] conceives it, we think, [illegible] of the passages more than [illegible] We shall hope to see it again [illegible] time, we will speak of the other [illegible] actor.

NOVEL WEDDING.—A day or two [illegible] visited East Portland, [illegible] of one [illegible] males each of the latter claiming the hand of the [illegible] Being unable to settle the [illegible] themselves, the three candidates for [illegible] upon Justice Trainor who [illegible] and then rendered judgment, not so much on the [illegible] of the argument as upon the [illegible] seemed to exist. He informed the parties that [illegible] man who should come to him with the [illegible] the girl, should be spliced [illegible] Away [illegible] claimants and in a short time one of them return[illegible] the cash and the damsel and the twain were ma[illegible] Our veracious history does not mention what be[illegible] the other claimants nor do we know who they [illegible] whence they came.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The [illegible] Capt. W. Sherwood, commander, sailed for San F[illegible] o'clock yesterday afternoon, with a [illegible] cargo [illegible] mostly flour. FOOLISH RUMORS.—The Herald of [illegible] rumor that a family living in the north par[illegible] city who had been doing washing for the [illegible] Hospital were all sick with the small pox. The [illegible] of last evening published a [illegible] that [illegible] small pox were yesterday [illegible] It may have been well [illegible] but we don't [illegible] weeks the streets have been full of [illegible] and extravagant rumors nearly every one of w[illegible] proven to be groundless, and all of them false [illegible] this city is concerned. We believe fully in the [illegible] newspapers to inform the public when and where [illegible] disease [illegible] exist, but we do not be[illegible] frightening an [illegible] into a panic upon mere "r[illegible]

A Jacksonville paper learns that rich diggings have been struck on Pickens creek about eight miles from the Junction House in Josephine county

The total valuation of property in Jackson county for 1868 is $1 041 457 This is an increase of nearly $200,000 since last year How is it accounted for?

It has been suggested at Jacksonville that the stages be stopped as a means of preventing the spread of the small pox The Sentinel says the idea is preposterous

Meeting of Laborers at Oregon City

Pursuant to previous notice, a meeting of laborers was held at the Court House in Oregon City, Oregon, on the evening of Saturday, the 9th of January, 1869 The meeting was organized by electing John Myers, Chairman, and Hiram Straight, Jr., Secretary. After several able speeches were made, explaining the object of the meeting, the following preamble and resolutions were introduced and unanimously passed, to-wit:

WHEREAS The Oregon City Woolen Manufacturing Company has discharged its white laborers, including a large number of poor, but honest, hard-working women, for the purpose of employing Chinese laborers in their stead, and

WHEREAS, such act of the managers of such company is prompted by mercenary motives, and is detrimental not only to the poor white laborers of this place, but to all the citizens, and against the public good and the peace of the community; therefore it is hereby

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Oregon City, here assembled, utterly condemn and denounce the discharge of white laborers and the employment of Chinese in their place, as mercenary, unprincipled and against the peace and welfare of this community

Resolved, That we will, by all honorable means within our power, endeavor to counteract the preference thus given by said company to Chinamen over American citizens and white laborers

Resolved, That this meeting resolve itself into the White Laborers' Association, and that it meet again on next Saturday evening, the 16th inst, to take further action in regard to this matter.

Resolved, That the Oregon City Enterprise, the OREGONIAN and the Oregon Herald, be requested to publish the foregoing preamble and resolutions

OREGON CITY, Jan 9, 1869

Attest: HIRAM STRAIGHT, Jr.,
Secretary.

Odds and Ends.

Grant never saw Greeley until he met him at breakfast at Delmonico's the other day.

The Earl of Dudley works ten square miles of iron mines, and is called the "Iron Earl "

Greeley is writing a book which will appear serially in the Independent—subject a secret

Reverdy Johnson was seventy two years old last May. He has been in public life fifty one years.

Lowell wants Dr Ayer to be its Mayor which, being the main pill of the city is the Doctors' right place.

We learn on the authority of a New York correspondent of the Boston Post, that Miss Susan A. Anthony and Miss Anna Dickinson are accomplished riders on that most fascinating of vehicles, the two wheeled velocipede.

RED SNOW.—The Leavenworth, Kansas, Commercial is informed that a considerable quantity of red snow fell along the Missouri river a few days ago, about twenty five miles below that city. It was not of a very bright hue, but rather a dingy color. The water obtained from melting a quantity of it presented nothing remarkable but was very similar to that produced by dissolving ordinary white snow, save that it contained a species of sediment very similar to brick dust Red snow, though quite a rarity in some regions is by no means uncommon in certain localities. In the Arctic regions it frequently falls several times during the year There was at one time a great contrariety of opinion as to the cause which produced this color. Some contended that it was caused by a minute plant of a vermilion hue, while others assigned as a reason the introduction of a species of animalcule. Indeed this difference of opinion still exists, although recent meteorological investigation proves the latter theory to be correct Some men of science have inclined to the opinion that the color is produced by atmospheric or other causes

The apochryphal story of old Bob Eccles, who raffled and won seven turkeys, but never was able to find more than one of them, is placed in the background by a recent discovery made in the Postoffice Department Two years ago a post route was established in Arizona Territory, and the contract, for the handsome sum of $90,000, awarded to a brother of a delegate from that Territory The new route gave general satisfaction—no complaints were made concerning the agent, and the $90,000 were promptly paid to the contractor When the first year's bill was paid, Governor McCormick heard of it in an "indirect manner " He examined the matter thoroughly, and sent in a letter to the Department, signed in his official capacity, asserting that "not a single letter or an ounce of mail matter had ever been carried over the route," pronounced it a swindle, and protested against the payment of any more money. Notwithstanding this fact, it is asserted the contractor succeeded in getting his pay for the second year.

A Democratic paper, lamenting the demise of the old year, says pathetically "How many of us have realized the expectations with which we began the present year? "

The New York Sun says of Erie Fisk's famous midnight ride

The train darted out at three a m at headlong speed Mr Fisk standing in the middle of the directors' car for an hour shouting to the conductor on the footboard to go faster and the conductor yelling to the engineer to crowd on all steam The train ran eighty miles in one hour and forty five minutes without stopping. To effect this rapid travel all trains were telegraphed out of the way At the first stopping place the party turned into their berths but the speed during the night was so great that the oscillations of the car frequently threw the inmates out upon the floor and they had to hold on with a firm grasp to save themselves injury

THE CHAMPION EATER.—The champion eater of the United States is named Joshua Plumb A few days ago he entered a restaurant in Hudson New York and offered to eat all that any one would pay for The challenge having been accepted he disposed of the following articles Ten pieces of apple pie six corn cakes a quarter of a pound of crackers, six cups of peanuts, thirty pickled clams, four lemons, an ounce of candy and two bowls of clam soup He then drank six tumblers of water, and offered to eat a hundred raw oysters No one doubted his ability to accomplish the feat but no one was willing to pay for the oysters and so he went off grumbling that he wasn t half full

It is now stated that that remarkable book "The Opium Habit " was written by Mr Horace Day of New Haven who has eaten over fifty pounds of opium but who freed himself from the habit in less than six weeks when he made up his mind to it

There is just as much virtue in a pedigree as there is in handing down from father to son ten thousand dollars in Continental money

Nests of Consumption.

BY DR. HENRY I. BOWDITCH.

From the Atlantic Monthly, for January

We know of two families in Massachusetts of whom the following story may be told. Two healthy brothers married two healthy sisters. Both had large families of children. One lived on the old homestead, on the southern slope of one of the numerous beautiful and well-drained hills in that vicinity. The whole house was bathed all day long in sunlight, and consumption did not touch any of the young lives under its roof. The other brother placed his house a very short distance off, but upon a grassy plain, covered all summer with the rankest verdure. In its front was a large open "common." In the center of this, water oozed up from between the split hoofs of the cows, as they came lowing homeward in the evening, and the barefooted boy who was driving them used to shrink from the place and preferred to make the circuit of its edge rather than to follow the lead of his more quiet companions. Back of the house was a large level meadow, reaching to the very foundations of the buildings. Through this meadow sluggishly crept the millstream of the adjacent village. Still further, all three surroundings were enclosed by lofty hills. The life-giving sun rose later and set earlier upon this than upon the other fair homestead. Till late in the afternoon, and long before the sunset left the hillside home, damp and chilling emanations rose from the meadow, and day after day enveloped the tender forms of the children that were trying in vain to grow up healthily within them. But all efforts were useless. Large families were born under both roofs. Not one of the children born in the latter homestead escaped, whereas the other family remained healthy, and when at the suggestion of a medical friend, who knew all the facts we have told, we visited the place for the purpose of thoroughly investigating them, we thought that these two houses were a terribly significant illustration of the existence of this powerful law. Yet these two homes had nothing peculiarly noticeable to the passing stranger. They were situated in the same township and within a very short distance of each other, and scarcely any within the village with whom we spoke on the subject agreed with us in our opinion that it was location alone, or chiefly that, which gave life or death to the inmates of the two.

We will speak of other homesteads which seem to us now to be the very nests of consumption in consequence of this law, and yet not one parent out of a hundred acknowledges even theoretically his belief in the truth of our assertion. Parents themselves, during a long residence, may escape from the dire influence of location; and therefore they imagine, if their children are falling, that some other evil agency is at work, rather than this law.

Illustrative of this error on the part of parents, we cannot forbear relating the following fact. We know of a house situated about a foot above and just on the edge of a small lake. The cellar, if there be one, must be below the level of the water. The house, built with taste, nestles amid overhanging, thickly-leaved trees, through which the sun's rays can scarcely penetrate, even at midday. The homestead is overrun with the springing woodbine, clematis and honeysuckle. Coolness, dampness, and little sunlight are the characteristics of this spot. In the midst of summer it is the beau ideal of a quiet, refined country house, which any one, even the most fastidious, would desire to occupy. Yet as we have looked at it and have remembered how one by one the children born in it have been cut off by consumption either at puberty or at early manhood or womanhood, we have turned with loathing from all its external beauties, and have regarded them all as so many false and fatal allurements, bringing inevitable ruin to those who should fall within the sphere of their influence.

These tales are no creation of our imagination, but positive and undeniable facts.

WHY WOMEN ARE PRECIOUS.—It has long been known that "distance lends enchantment to the view;" and on this ground alone some writers have sensibly advised women who wish to be valued highly to "make themselves scarce." But the effect of literal scarcity of this article has been finely elaborated in a late number of the Westminister Review, which shows that women have more influence and [illegible] in proportion as men exceed them in number. It gives the following singular illustration, if it may be called such: "At one time a woman could hardly walk through the streets of San Francisco without having every one pause to gaze on her; and a child was so rare, that once at a theatre, in the same city, where a woman had taken her infant, when it began to cry, just as the orchestra commenced to play, a man in the pit cried out: 'Stop those fiddles, and let the baby cry. I haven't heard such a sound for ten years!' The audience applauded this sentiment; the orchestra stopped, and the baby [illegible] the performance amid unbounded enthusiasm."

How was the art of making glass discovered? A vessel carrying natron, in the Bay of Acre, in the first century, was driven ashore in the mouth of the river Belus. A kettle was brought ashore to prepare food, and there being nothing but sand on shore, some shells, fossil alkali, were taken from the ship to support the kettle. The fire, the sand and the alkali did the work. Necessity is the mother of invention.

CHANGE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Seully have been obliged for their own protection and the safety of the public, to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

MERCADO'S
Native California Wine
BITTERS

We subjoin the following affidavit in an injunction suit formerly pending between Mercado & Seully, plaintiffs, and G. A. Simon, defendant.

P. Sainsevain, being duly sworn, says, "That the article known as Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Seully, about the month of March, 1861, without the said Sainsevain Brothers having any concern in the manufacture thereof. The deponent has always known and considered said Mercado & Seully as the Sole Proprietors of the Sainsevain California Wine Bitters."

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Sainsevain is putting up a compound under the name of Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters, which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1861, and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED! Send for

NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1860. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label, and see that the words, "MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO," are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitations.

NOTES.

Proposals must be to carry the mail with "celerity, certainty, and security," using the terms of the law, and they must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to as such by a postmaster or judge of a court of record.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connections with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, from neglecting to take the mail from or into a postoffice; for suffering it to be injured, robbed, or lost; and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running vehicles on the route. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the post office laws, or the instructions of the Department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay. He may also curtail or discontinue the service in whole or in part, at a pro rata decrease of pay, allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Oregon," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposal, &c., and other information, see advertisement of this date, in pamphlet form, at the principal post offices.
